It was decided that the schools of the county will open Monday, September 30th, 1901. On motion of Mr. Covington, time of opening Accomac District schools referred to their district trustees.

It was decided that the District Trustees take up the appointment of teachers, as soon as possible after the examination. The following days were designated for the appointment of teachers:

Island District, August 13th, at 9 o'clock a. m.

Atlantic District, August 19th, at 9 o'clock a. m.

Metompink District, August 12th, at 9 o'clock a. m.

THE BIG FAIR AT TASLEY.

The Peninsula Fair Meeting Opens Next Tuesday.

The Peninsula Fair at Tasley, Va., opens next Tuesday, August 20th, under conditions truly auspicious. The weather man has promised good weather and therefore has done his part. That the attendance will be large is not doubted for an instant and why should it be? August is the Eastern Shore Va. month for gaieties and festivities of all kinds. Many of the crops have been marketed, the returns good, the people prosperous. Amusements and relaxation from monotonous cares are as necessary to healthful existence as daily food. If things have gone a little wrong with you or your health not quite up to the standard come spend four days at the Fair, see your friends, enjoy the original features introduced for the first time by the management with its shifting scenes and varied amusements and you will go home feeling better, live longer and die happier.

The managers are preparing to entertain the greatest throng ever assembled on the Eastern Shore, Va. The grounds are as near perfect as money can make them, the appointments as complete as ingenuity can devise and the management in every detail as clean as vigilance can insure. They should not be ashamed to stand on their record of previous years when their Fairs have been everywhere endorsed as a fair for the people and by the people, not a pretentious exhibition advertising much and showing little, but giving dollar for dollar in amusement for the peoples' money. Their advertised features are all pledges.

Fakers, gamblers and games-of-chance men do not infect their grounds any more. Your boy is safe from such alluring influences when he is within their gates. In honest amusements, however, the Association has booked more than ever before. Three side shows, each advertising fifteen performers, have secured space and besides they each claim to be the best on earth of the kind. This was probably a printer's error as shown are always too honest to mislead.

The Merry-go-round with its orchestra, the glass blower with his beautiful display of glass blowing, the miniature railroad, the snake charmer with reptiles galore, the balloon man, (who by the way is a woman this time) the fat Dutchman selling attenuated dry babies—in fact exhibitors of all sorts, kinds and previous conditions of servitude will be promptly on hand to help share up the prosperous times and assist in the fun making season. Don't stay home and ask your neighbor what he saw at the fair, but go and laugh it over with him.

As the association desires accuracy in all its statements it is impossible to give an outline at this time of what the various departments will contain, as entries to these divisions do not close until August 19th, but we feel safe in saying the stock exhibit, produce and poultry show and the ladies hall will be equal to that of previous years. Nothing more is desired. It would be next to impossible to surpass the m. Most of the entries are received in the horse department and of this a partial outline may be given. In starting Judge Smith, of Buffalo, the association has secured a high priced man with a high standard of honesty. The best horse will win this year or Judge Smith will know the reason why. A time register will flash the fractions of the mile to the grandstand. No suppressed time. The smallest boy will know as well what the horses are doing as the judges in the stand. But as we approach this subject what changes are noted. Among that galaxy of trotters for which the Eastern Shore Va. was so justly renowned two years ago none remain save White Tips. Lamp Girl has been sold North, Little Guy has been lost sight of while Bursar, Sport and Sweetness are dead Bursar, however, was a splendid sire and many among his offspring will sustain the reputation of the grand old horse. Clay and Sweetness both died from the stable of Floyd Bros., a fatality truly to be lamented by all lovers of the horses.

Tuesday, the opening day, the bell calls the horses for the best race of the entire meeting and those who miss it cannot say they were not duly notified. Evadne owned by R. Hentchall, Glencoe entered by Fred Buckner, Thaddeus K. by A. Nitz and Little Joe by C. A. Rodgers. Evadne is an old rounder and her owner, "Lucky Dick" Hentchall, does not attend fairs for his health. He has that in abundance. If Glencoe or Thaddeus K. cross the wire ahead of him they will know they have been to a horse race. Little Joe is an unknown quantity, but the marvelous tales that have preceded his advent in sporting life land him in the first row. Be that as it may his reputation from now on must stand on performance and not on promises. Unfortunately.

The second race lines up that awkward squad of two year olds that puts every body guessing that is busy swearing. Well this will be over in time. Keep your coat on.

The day closes with the 2:40 trot at the bat and a delightful day's racing most over, Black Bill, Lillian S., Bonnie, Moonlight, of Virginia, and Hart B., owned by A. Nitz, of Maryland, will bid for the prize. My sympathies and my judgment run counter here for I do believe Hart B. has blood in his eye and is here for no good. However, he has not, been barred and if Mr. Nitz is a naturalized citizen of the required age, and this is his first offense, we will let him off with first money and a reprimand.

Wednesday, 2:24 trot and a blanket race opens the sport. You remember last year how Cordova and Bursary battled for supremacy? They have trained on and I wouldn't dare risk my reputation in naming the winner this distance off. Cordova is that handsome son of Monocacy while Bursary has the blood of Bursar in his veins. They shed lustre on their sires.

The second race brings the 3 minute class to the stand—Mamie D., Black Bill, Larry and Walker Morrill Jr., all of Virginia. It looks like this race should be well contested with chances in favor of Larry, owned by a clever young attorney of the Accomac Bar, who occasionally takes a dash in harmless sports for recreation, with Black Bill chasing him from wire to wire.

The last race brings together Sam Patch, White Foot Ham, Basil and Forney, in the 3:38 class. Forney was entered here last year but would not start because he was afraid he would be driven to a mark. He is a year older now and his dashing owner has doubtless found out he can't win money by keeping him in the stable. He starts in this race and wins with Basil in second place. Basil enters regularly by force of habit and wins by outclassing his field.

Thursday is the day everybody comes and if they will leave at once after seeing the 2:15 class they will have had the worth of their money. White Tips, Gold Bur and Roberta make up this race and lucky indeed are they that none others will be in to bother them. If Gold Bur and White Tips are in good form Roberta will take third money with a battle from wire to wire between the leaders. These horses are splendid performers and the qualities of their sires that made them great have descended to the sons. "Lucky Dick" collars the booty prize—the entrance fee.

2:28 trot and 2:30 pace has caught the eye of News Boy, Martha Ford, Happy Jack, Judge Kendall and Bursary. We have here a stepper from town of Berlin, Md., entered by our good friend, T. T. Savage. This gentleman is not given to reckless investments or grand stand amusements. If he don't win here it is because he figured wrong. However he has Bursary to reckon with and everybody knows he is a good one.

Anyhow, if Tom don't win he will take his medicine like a man and turn up in Berlin next day as chipper as ever.

A special closes this splendid day's sport from horses evenly matched and a driving race may be looked for with the winner pulling down the prize by an eye lash finish.

The last day opens and everybody is sorry the end is so near. The 2:30 pace is the first on the bill of fare and we have two entries from Maryland and one from Virginia and it does look like the odds should be in that proportion against our home horse. Noah entered by Hentchall, Numa by W. H. Caey, and Little Joe by C. A. Rodgers make up this field. They will get the word without much jockeying and a heart disease flash may be looked for. If Little Joe wins here his reputation is established and his genial young owner buds out a full fledged sportsman with the Fairs' endorsement to travel North.

A special is next on the card, the character of which the management has kept secret or I would tell you every word of it.

2:50 class is next on the programme and a good field faces the starter, viz: Black Bill, Felton, Ida Gray, Walker Morrill Jr. and Miss James. This should be in all honesty one of the best races of the meeting and it Felton owned by the gay and dashing sportsman from Green Bush should win don't say I did not tip him. He is a good one and you had better keep your eye on him.

The Fair winds up with a free for all running race, no entrance fee and nobody barred. The purse is $50.00 divided in four monies. Bring your old plug along and pull off a prize. You are welcome. But what a job lot of mis-fits this will be. All ages, kinds and conditions go. A surgeon will be in attendance to look after the wounded.

This is true sport of your forefathers when Glencoe, Scott and such great thoroughbreds vied with each other for supremacy. Mirth and merry-making always gladdened, those occasions and the big hearted sportsmen of those grand old days chuckled up their dollars like they were oak leaves and they had forests full of them. But right here let me say, I enjoyed you last year not to bet, and my observation since that time has not caused me to change my advice. It is not in good taste to speak of one's experience, besides, few people ever profited by their own and none by that of others.
